

DON'T WAIT

If I were to die tonight
While sleeping in my bed
What things would you have wished were done?
What things would you have said?

If you only had another chance
To set things right with thee.
How would you handle questions asked?
How would you answer me?

So many things went unsaid.
I've heard this many times.
But still one fails to understand
The message in the chimes.

The chimes that ring throughout the church,
The day I'm laid to rest.
As I look on those I've left behind,
And wish them all the best.

If you have needs and special cares,
For someone you love true.
Don't let them slip out of your life,
Not hearing it from you.

By Barbara Cochran